

Invitation to the workshop:

Towards a UN Binding Treaty on TNCs & Stopping the Trade-Investment Regime and Climate Change

(English/Français/Castellano)

Civil society organisations gathering at UN Square on July 2015 to call for the end of TNCs power and promote alternatives

SUNDAY 6th December

14.00-16.00

Collège/Lycée Jean Jaurès – Room 406

Peoples Climate Summit in Montreuil (Metro Line 9 Marie de Montreuil)

Aim of the meeting

- ❖ Listening to the testimonies of affected communities who resist corporate impunity in the Global South and Europe, and their priorities for a treaty
- ❖ Update on the Treaty Process at the UN and on current campaigning activities, in Europe and internationally
- ❖ Exploring jointly the links and opportunity for collaboration between the UN Binding Treaty and Trade-Investment and Climate Change struggles.

Background

Forty years after Salvador Allende denounced the growing power of transnational corporations and the threat they pose to peoples' sovereignty at the UN, a historical vote at the Human Rights Council (UNHRC) resolved in June 2014 to initiate the negotiation process on an unprecedented treaty – a legally binding instrument on TNCs and other business enterprises in relation to human rights.

One year later, the first session of the Intergovernmental Working Group was held from July 6 to 10, 2015. Legal and human rights experts gave their opinion on what such a treaty should include in terms of scope and content which resulted in a lively debate between representatives of states, experts, civil society organisations and NGOs.

Key states did not participate in the process, including the US, Canada, Australia and Japan. The EU played a non-constructive role by trying to derail the process in the preparatory phase and also during the session. It is a disgrace that the EU Commission and its Member States proudly claim to actively promote and defend human rights internally and abroad, yet try to frustrate and derail the progress of this Working Group. The United States and the European Union defend investors' interests through free trade agreements, such as TTIP & TPP despite strong objections from their citizens. Yet they refuse to engage in the UN Treaty process which would establish rights of affected people.

Speakers

Pablo Fajardo / Humberto Piaguaje, UDAPT (Ecuador)

Joseph Purugganan (Focus on the Global South)

Mercia Andrews (Rural Women's Assembly)

Anti-fracking movement

Philip Seufert (FIAN International)

Themba Nthavela (La Via Campesina – South Africa)

Diana Aguiar (FASE-Brazil, Global Campaign to Dismantle Corporate Power and Stop Impunity)

Carole Peychaud (CCDF)

Dominic Renfrey (ESCR-NET)

Anne van Schaik (Friends of the Earth Europe)

Lala Hakuma Dadci (Aitec)

Pascoe Sabido (CEO) & Ricardo Navarro (CESTA -Friends of the Earth El Salvador)

Facilitators

Brid Brennan (Transnational Institute) and Rodrigo Peret (Franciscans International)

This Workshop is convened by members of the Treaty Alliance, a coalition of grassroots networks and campaign groups around the world that is working collectively in support for the UN Binding Treaty.

Convenors

Aitec, CCDF, CIDSE, Corporate Europe Observatory (CEO), Ecologistas en Acción, ESCR-NET, FIAN International, FASE, FIDH, Focus on the Global South, Les Amis de la Terre-Friends of the Earth France, CESTA- Friends of the Earth El Salvador, Friends of the Earth Europe, Friends of the Earth International, Franciscans International, Global Campaign to Dismantle Corporate Power and Stop Impunity, La Via Campesina, Transnational Institute (TNI), Union of People Affected by Chevron-Texaco (UDAPT)

For more information, please contact: m.vargas@tni.org or anne.vanschaik@foeeurope.org