collectively building a global movement to dismantle the power of transnational corporations.

The Global Campaign to Reclaim Peoples Sovereignty, Dismantle Corporate Power and Stop Impunity (stopcorporateimpunity.org) is a coalition of 200 social movements, networks, and organizations as well as campaigns against specific corporations or sectors from diverse regions and countries.

It is a peoples global structural response to unaccountable corporate power, which provides facilitation for dialogue, strategizing, exchanging information and experiences, acting as a space for greater visibility and deepening of solidarity and support for struggles against Transnational Corporations (TNCs).

At the same time, it proposes an International Peoples Treaty, which provides a political framework to give visibility and support to international and national movements and communities in their resistances and practices of alternatives to corporate power. It also participates in the campaign for UN Binding legislation to regulate TNCs operations and stop corporate human rights violations. As such, it is a tool for strengthening resistance to TNCs locally, regionally and globally.

What is the International Peoples Treaty?

The International Peoples’ Treaty is above all a political process and vision that emerges from the need to fight against the existing architecture of impunity (Free Trade Agreements, Investment Agreements and other instruments of neoliberal policy), and for the urgent demands for a binding legal instrument to stop corporate violations. Even though the term “Treaty,” legally refers to an agreement signed by states, the Peoples Treaty vision is that the people, beyond states, are protagonists in making law and defends the notion of international law “from below.”

The International Peoples Treaty places the people as the paramount subjects, political actors and source of the laws and norms of a political, economic and legal system that challenges the current framework of extraordinary privileges and impunity operating for TNCs. It is from within this framework that the determination emerges to overcome the lack of political will and imagination of those saying that a binding Treaty on TNCs is impossible. While The Peoples Treaty represents a political vision from below, it is complementary to the intergovernmental binding instrument set to be negotiated by the UNHRC inter-governmental process.
The recent trajectory of the Campaign

2000-2012

A broad international consultation to build collectively a common frame for the Campaign, that was launched in June 2012 (Rio+20), with 100 signatories of the Call to International Action for the Economic, Political, Cultural and Environmental Sovereignty of our Peoples. “End the Impunity of Transnational Corporations Now!”.

Several Campaign activities have been built in different global regions. During a collective process we elaborated the Peoples Treaty Base Document and thanks to the Campaign-regional advocacy strategy as well as the Treaty Alliance political pressure, the United Nations Human Rights Council (UNHRC) approved a Resolution for a legally Binding Instrument on the operations of TNCs. In June 2014 and in July 2015 the Campaign organised the Days of Mobilisation in Geneva in parallel to the First Meeting of the Inter-Governmental Working Group (IGWG) mandated by the UNHRC Resolution, giving a high public visibility to the demand for an end to the impunity of TNCs.

Where are we at in 2016?

The Global Campaign strategy regarding the Peoples Treaty is in a new phase, in which it will strengthen the action at the regional, national and local level. It will also work on several proposals of practical application of the Peoples Treaty and develop a strategy to confront the current corporate capture of democracy through “multi-stakeholder” bodies that place corporations at the center of governance. Finally, we will intensify the work and the mobilisation for the UN Binding Treaty.

Some of the key dates in our collective calendar of 2016

- 19-20th January
  Strategy meeting South East Asia network of the Global Campaign (Jakarta)

- 19th-21st February
  Meeting of the European members of the Global Campaign (Madrid, Spain, during the Plan B Conference)

How to be involved & participate in the Campaign?

Social movements, organizations, campaigns, networks and coalitions of affected communities can participate in the following ways:

- Sign on to the Call for Action to Reclaim Peoples Sovereignty and promote it widely.
- Share knowledge and lessons of resistance to corporate power with other groups and with the Campaign network, building a collective repertoire of strategies and practices.
- Promote and engage in solidarity actions with ongoing movements against corporate power carried by the coalitions of affected communities that are part of the Campaign network e.g. (MAB, People affected by VALE, Marikana, BDS, etc.)
- Participate in the Campaign Working Groups facilitating the Campaign building process, mobilization and activities.
- Participate in the development and dissemination of the International Peoples Treaty with other organizations interested in coordinating strategies against TNCs.
- Build together Hearings of the Permanent Peoples Tribunal through presenting cases of corporate violations and crimes, attending the Hearings and raising awareness of the decisions of the juries.
- Contribute to the collective building of the Global Campaign with information on ongoing struggles, ideas and proposals, undertaking dissemination on websites, social media and with other online tools towards more effective convergence of struggles on the corporate power nexus.
Call to International Action

For the Economic, Political, Cultural and Environmental Sovereignty of Our Peoples End the Impunity of Transnational Corporations Now! The time has come to unite the hundreds of struggles, campaigns, networks, movements and organizations that are combating the different ways transnational corporations are appropriating our destinies, natural heritage and rights, dismantling public services, destroying the commons and endangering food sovereignty in every corner of the planet.

Neoliberal globalization has opened the doors for the savage exploitation of the world by the big economic powers. They have gradually taken over our lives and the planet by creating a blanket of impunity through the dismantling and systematic violation of laws and the signing of international trade and investment agreements, which award investors more rights than citizens. As a result, peoples’ rights have been systematically violated, the Earth and its resources destroyed, pillaged and contaminated, and resistance criminalized, while corporations continue committing economic and ecological crimes with total impunity. Driven by their imperative of maximizing profit, TNCs seek to pit workers from different regions against one another in what is a race to the bottom for the world’s working people.

The governance and policies of the multilateral institutions (IMF, WB, and the WTO) have long served corporate interests, while the institutions of the UN and the EU have been increasingly captured by TNCs. This is reflected in the policies shaped to satisfy the interests of capital and in these institutions’ systematic refusal to impose limits on corporations.

In most countries, governments are at the service of corporate interests and against us, the majority of peoples. Setting aside democratic principles, they usurp institutions and, with the complicity of national elites, succeed in altering laws and policies that allow them to continue plundering the wealth of nations and maintain their predatory relation to nature. In the face of mounting criticism of their operations, TNCs’ have designed tools like Corporate Social Responsibility to clean up their image, while allowing them to continue to increase their profits. Furthermore, they control major media agencies, which play a key role in ensuring the continuity of corporate hegemony.

Acting with brutality in the rich countries from which they originate, but especially in countries of the Global South - and increasingly in “emerging” countries like Brazil, India, China and Russia - major corporations are appropriating more and more of our wealth and rights. Their growing economic monopoly, political power and control over the justice system destroy our right to a decent life and dominate our peoples’ and nations’ cultural habits and consumption patterns.
Transnationals have commodified life and continue to seize our territories, forests and water and transform social and human relations. Health and education, for example, are now considered privileges of those who have money, and are no longer seen as the rights of all people. With the crisis in the U.S. and various European countries, the banks have expropriated thousands of people’s houses. In Europe, they have imposed austerity measures, which are a replica of the structural adjustment programs implemented years ago in countries in the South to deal with the so-called “external debt”. Today, we are seeing unprecedented attacks on public services, labour rights and social programs, while governments use public funds to save the market’s excesses and the financial institutions.

Transnational corporations operate globally, moving from one country to another, while applying the same recipe to generate profit at any cost. It is we, the 99%, who bear the costs. Yet, resistance is growing throughout the world. Every day, there are more communities, movements and peoples struggling against transnationals - often confronting specific companies or sectors and that have won important victories. Even so, we have not succeeded in halting the advance of corporations, as when defeated in one place, they adjust their strategies and move to another, where they confront any obstacle that rises on their path.

Therefore, to confront corporate power and the system that protects and benefits TNCs, it is urgent and necessary to give a systematic response. We must unite our experiences and our struggles, learn collectively from our victories and our failures and share our analysis and strategies for putting an end to the impunity of transnationals. The concrete struggles of our communities against a transnational corporation could be even more victorious if we are able to unite them with the efforts of other people in other countries, regions or continents.

Sharing our experience in developing ways of life that are distinct from the culture of transnational production imposed by capitalism, that now wants to disguise itself as “green”, is fundamental for building an alternative society in which we, the people, are the protagonists. We are committed to reclaiming sovereignty over the commons, over natural resources, territories and public services and strengthening our struggles for food sovereignty and for ecological and environmental justice.

We, the undersigned, hereby invite you to join us in collectively building this process of mobilization towards a global campaign against the power of corporations and their crimes against humanity. Dismantling the transnationals’ system of power demands coordinated action at the global level: engaging in struggles in various spheres, combining mobilizations on the streets and in territories with popular education and actions in parliaments, media and international forums and organisations.

By creating a powerful movement of solidarity and action against TNCs, their apologists and promoters, we will begin to build a world free from corporate power and greed.
